Finance

Highlights

- The 2009/10 fiscal year was challenging. The rebound in the world financial markets and additional funding from the province, while welcome and significant contributors to the University's in-year surplus position of $11.7 million, were not sufficient to restore McMaster to financial health.
- Total revenue increased at a pace greater than expenditures for the first time in several years and revenue per FTE student increased.
- Year over year expenditure growth of 3.9% declined from previous annual growth rates demonstrating the positive effect of the concerted efforts by management, faculty and staff to identify and implement cost reduction strategies.
- Although improved from 2008/09, total net assets remain 6% below 2007/08.
- Despite the strong investment performance in the year, the registered pension plan deficits did not improve and our obligation remains at almost $300 million which is significantly higher than the $90 million deficit recorded in 2007/08.
- Pension and other post retirement benefits remain the biggest financial risk to the University. In March 2010, these factors along with other financial challenges noted throughout the Annual Financial Report resulted in the University's AA bond rating falling to AA (low).
